

THE REAL LIFE QUOTES PRESENTS

The Facebook Page Profit Playbook

From a blank page to a growing, automated Facebook Page that can earn, step by step, with Claude, Blotato and Eden.

Josée Bédard

The Real Life Quotes

What is inside

Start	How a Facebook Page can make money, and what to expect
Part 1	Choose your niche, name and audience
Part 2	Create the Page and set it up properly
Part 3	Build your brand kit: logo, colors, fonts
Optional	Go further with BrandBuilder
Part 4	Research what works with Eden
Part 5	Create your content with Claude
Part 6	Automate your posting with Blotato
Part 7	Grow the Page with a weekly rhythm
Part 8	Get monetized and earn off Facebook too
Part 9	Create and sell your own guide
Optional	No product yet? The Product Library
Part 10	Your 30-day launch plan
Extras	Prompt library, checklists, tools and links

> PLEASE READ
>
> This guide teaches a process. It does not promise any income. Results depend on your effort, your niche, your content and Facebook's own rules, which change. Every number you see in other people's screenshots is theirs, not a promise to you. Check Facebook's current program rules in your own Page dashboard before you decide anything.

Affiliate disclosure. Some links in this guide are affiliate links for Blotato and Eden. If you sign up through them, the author may earn a commission at no extra cost to you. The author uses both tools in the process described here.

START

How a Facebook Page makes money

Know the real routes before you build, so you build toward one.

A Facebook Page is a place where strangers find you. Money comes from what you do with that attention. There are two families of income, and the strongest Pages use both.

Family 1: Facebook pays you

Facebook runs monetization programs for Pages that meet its rules. Typical ones are ad-based earnings on videos and Reels, performance bonuses, viewer tips called Stars, and paid fan subscriptions. Each program has its own eligibility rules, such as age, country, how old the Page is, how much people watch, and strict originality and content policies. Programs and invitations change often, and some are by invitation only.

> RULE OF THUMB
>
> Facebook pays for attention that stays on Facebook. Build for it, but do not depend on it alone. Treat Facebook's payments as a bonus, not as your plan.

Family 2: You send attention somewhere you earn

- Digital products: a guide, a wallpaper pack, a printable, a template. You make it once and sell it many times.
- Affiliate links: you recommend a tool you really use and earn a commission if someone signs up through your link. You must disclose this.
- Email list: people who join your list are yours, whatever Facebook does next.
- Print-on-demand merch: shirts, mugs and posters made only when someone orders. No stock, no upfront cost with the free options.
- Services: once you have an audience, some people will pay for your help.

Why automation matters

A Page needs to post every day to grow. Doing that by hand takes hours. In this guide you will use three tools to cut that down to a short weekly session:

> WHY I WROTE THIS
>
> I used to do all of this by hand. Designing every post in Canva and posting it manually took me hours. Setting it up with Claude, Blotato and Eden takes a bit of time once. After that it is easy and simple, and in my experience about 90% automated. The designing and the posting run for me, and what is left is one weekly sitting. This guide shows you how to set up the same system.

Tool	Job in your system
Eden	Research. Find posts and creators already doing well, and save the ideas to a board.
Claude	Creation. Writes the quotes and captions, builds the images and videos, and plans the batch.
Blotato	Publishing. Connects your Page, uploads the files, and posts on schedule while you are away.

Get Blotato, the scheduler used in this guide

Affiliate link

Get Eden, the research workspace used in this guide

Affiliate link

PART 1

Choose your niche, name and audience

A clear niche is the cheapest growth tool you will ever have.

1. Pick a feeling, not a topic

   Pages that grow fast promise one feeling: calm, hope, laughter, courage, comfort. Example from this guide's own Page: calm, gratitude, peace, healing and wisdom.

2. Aim for everyone, not one group

   A wider audience shares more. Write so anyone can read a line and see themselves in it.

3. Choose a safe niche

   Pick content that keeps your Page eligible and brand-safe. Quotes, gratitude, nature, simple recipes, home tips and positive stories work well.

4. Decide what you will never post

   Write a short list. This Page excludes: sex, weight loss, body content, supplements, dating advice, politics, medical claims and money promises. A list like this protects your reach and keeps you consistent.

5. Name the Page

   Short, easy to say and spell, and describes the feeling. Check the name is free on Facebook, Instagram and as a .com domain.

DO THIS NOW

Write three lines in a note: the feeling you promise, who it is for (everyone, or a group), and your never-post list. Everything later in this guide uses those lines.

PROMPT FOR CLAUDE

Act as a Facebook Page strategist. I want a Page that gives people the feeling of [calm / hope / courage]. Suggest 10 Page names, 5 content themes, and a never-post list that keeps the Page brand-safe for monetization. Audience: everyone. Keep ideas original.

PART 2

Create the Page and set it up properly

A complete, trustworthy Page from day one.

Facebook moves its menus around. The names below are what to look for, and they stay close from one version to the next.

1. Protect your personal account first
   Turn on two-factor authentication in your account security settings. You need a personal profile to create and run a Page.

2. Create the Page
   Open the menu, choose Pages, then Create new Page. Enter the name, a category that fits (for example Entertainment, or Community), and a short bio.

3. Add the profile picture
   Use your logo as a square image. It shows as a circle, so keep important parts away from the corners.

4. Add the cover image
   Use a calm, simple cover with your Page name and promise. Keep text in the center so it is not cut off on phones.

5. Write the bio
   One sentence on the feeling you give and who it is for, plus your posting rhythm. Example: Calm words for everyday life. New quotes daily.

6. Add your link and button
   Add your website later. For now, add a button such as Learn more or Sign up, pointing to your free guide or website when it exists.

7. Switch on the professional tools
   Open Meta Business Suite from your Page. This is where you see insights, check monetization eligibility and manage everything in one place.

8 Post five starter posts before you invite anyone

An empty Page does not convince visitors. Publish five of your best quotes first.

9 Note two numbers

Write down your Page ID and your Page name. You will use the Page ID when you connect Blotato.

> KEEP IT CLEAN
>
> Do not buy followers, join engagement pods or use giveaway tricks to grow. They can block monetization later, and the followers will not engage.

PART 3

Build your brand kit

One look, repeated, so people know your posts before they read them.

A brand kit is a short list of choices you reuse every time. It makes your posts instantly recognizable and makes Claude's work consistent.

Your brand kit: fill in your choices

Item	What to decide
Main color	One strong color, taken from your logo
Text color	A dark ink that is easy to read
Soft backgrounds	One or two light tones
Headline font	One expressive font for your main lines
Body font	One clean, easy-to-read font
Images	The kind of pictures you will always use, and where your logo goes
Never	Anything you will never put on your posts

1. Choose 1 main color and 2 neutrals
   Pick one strong color from your logo. Add a dark ink for text and a soft light background.

2. Choose two fonts
   One expressive for the quote, one plain for small text. Free fonts from Google Fonts are enough.

3. Make a simple round logo
   A clean circle with your name works in every place Facebook shows it.

4 Find free backgrounds

Use free photo sites such as Pexels. Pick calm, uncluttered pictures with space for text. Check the license for each site.

5 Save it all in one note

Give that note to Claude at the start of every batch.

OPTIONAL

Go further with BrandBuilder

A whole brand in one afternoon, if you would like help building it.

You can build your brand kit yourself with the table above. If you would rather be guided, BrandBuilder is an optional app made for people who are not tech people. You answer 9 simple questions about yourself, like talking to a friendly coach, and it builds your brand for you. You never write a prompt or learn an AI tool.

What you get

- Your brain file: a full brand document with your origin story, what makes you different, your voice, your audience, your beliefs, words to never say and your 3 content lanes. You can paste it into any AI before it writes for you, so the writing sounds like you.
- Colors, fonts and name ideas: a 4-color palette and a font pairing that fit your voice, plus brand name ideas shown on real color tiles.
- Your logo: 12 logo styles made from your own colors and fonts, downloadable as PNG or SVG.
- Your website: a real one-page website built in the app from your own words, colors, fonts and logo. You can add your photos, ask for changes by typing, and put it online free.
- 30 days of posts: short posts in your voice, ready to copy, with a picture in your brand colors for each one.

How it can help you

Your brand kit, your logo, your Page words and your first month of posts are all created in one place, instead of five different tools. That gives you a clear look and voice to start your Page with, so you can follow the rest of this guide with a brand that is ready.

GOOD TO KNOW

This is optional. It is a one-time payment with no subscription. There are two small one-time setup steps: a free Google key, and a free Vercel account if you want your website online. The app shows you which button to press for each.

See what BrandBuilder does

brandbuilder.joseebedard.com

PART 4

Research what works with Eden

Copy the angle, never the words. Start from proof, not guesses.

Eden is a research workspace. It lets you search creators and posts across several platforms, see which ones perform far above their own normal level, and save the best to boards. Eden does not have Facebook data, so Instagram and Threads act as the stand-in. A quote that wins there is a strong clue for Facebook.

YOU DO NOT SCROLL, CLAUDE DOES

With Eden connected to Claude, you do not search or scroll yourself. You ask Claude to run the research in Eden, and it saves the best posts and angles to your board. You only look over what it found.

Open Eden and start your research board

Affiliate link

1. Create one board for the Page
   Name it clearly, such as Quote Page - Viral Research.
2. Search by theme
   Run searches for each of your themes: gratitude, peace, healing, letting go, boundaries, self-worth, aging and wisdom, relatable lines.
3. Rank by outlier score and likes
   An outlier is a post that did much better than that creator usually does. Those are the ones to learn from.
4. Keep the right formats
   Keep image posts, carousels and short quote reels. Skip anything outside your never-post list.

5 Save the keepers

Add them to your board and note the angle and the format of each, for example Short question on a calm lake photo.

6 Repeat weekly

New ideas appear constantly. Ask Claude to run the research again each week so your content stays fresh.

ORIGINALITY IS NOT OPTIONAL

Use research to learn what people respond to: the feeling, the format, the length. Then write your own words. Copying other creators' text or images can cost you your reach and your monetization.

PROMPT FOR CLAUDE WITH EDEN CONNECTED

Search Eden for quote and motivation posts on Instagram and Threads about gratitude, peace, healing, letting go and wisdom. Rank by outlier score and likes, remove anything about sex, weight loss, body, supplements, dating, politics, medical claims or money promises, and save the best 20 to my board. List the angle and format of each. Do not quote their wording.

PART 5

Create your content with Claude

A full batch of images, reels and captions in one sitting.

Claude can write, plan, and build the actual image and video files. Give it your brand kit, your rules and your research board. Ask it to show you everything before anything is scheduled.

Step A: Write the quotes

1. Give Claude your rules
   Niche feeling, audience, never-post list, brand kit, and your research angles.
2. Ask for original lines
   Ask for short quotes in your tone, in the angles you saved. Ask it to check that no line repeats an earlier post.
3. Ask for captions
   Each caption should end with a question or an invitation to save and share, plus your hashtag. Questions get comments.

PROMPT

Write 21 original quotes for a calm Facebook Page for everyone. Themes: gratitude, peace, healing, boundaries, wisdom, relatable real life. Each under 18 words. No emoji. Add a caption for each that ends with a question or a save-and-share prompt and the hashtag #RealLifeQuotes. Do not reuse anything from my plan file.

Step B: Build the images

- Size: 1080 by 1350 pixels, the tall format that fills a phone screen.
- Background: a calm free photo or plain black. Put text in the sky area or inside a soft dark box.
- Four text styles you can rotate: quote mark with a side bar, spaced capitals, dark box, black with blue and white capitals.
- Logo: your round logo at the bottom center on every image.

- Carousels: a cover and seven slides with a small counter, such as 3 / 7.

Step C: Build the reels

- Size: 1080 by 1920 pixels, about ten seconds.
- Picture: a slow zoom on a calm nature photo, a soft dark overlay so text stays readable, lines of text that fade in one at a time.
- Logo: keep it above the bottom area where Facebook shows its buttons.
- Music: use only music you have the right to use. Free-to-use libraries such as Pixabay are one option; read the license of each track. Never use popular songs, which can mute or block your reel.
- Check the file: it should play with sound and the right size before you upload.

Step D: Review before anything goes live

Ask Claude to build one review page with every image, reel and caption. Read it like a visitor would. Change what you do not love. Only then say go.

> WHY A REVIEW PAGE
>
> Automation is only safe when a person approves the batch. A two-minute review stops mistakes before they reach your audience.

PART 6

Automate your posting with Blotato

Plan a week, schedule it, and let it publish while you live your life.

Blotato connects to your social accounts and publishes on the schedule you set. It also connects to Claude, so Claude can upload your files and create the scheduled posts for you, once you approve them.

Start with Blotato and connect your Page
Affiliate link

1. Create your Blotato account
   Use the link above, then open Settings and connect your Facebook Page. Choose the Page, not your personal profile.
2. Connect Blotato to Claude
   Follow Blotato's own instructions to add it as a connector. Claude can then list your accounts and schedule posts.
3. Find your two IDs
   Ask Claude to list your connected accounts. Write down your account ID and your Page ID. They are needed for every post.
4. Upload each file
   Each image or reel is uploaded to Blotato's storage and gets a public address. Check that every address opens before scheduling.
5. Schedule each post
   Choose platform Facebook, your account and Page, the caption, the media, and the date and time. Reels are scheduled as reels.
6. Choose the right times
   Spread posts through the day. A proven starting rhythm: three image posts a day at 8:00 AM, 1:00 PM and 7:00 PM, and two reels a day at 10:30 AM and 4:30 PM in your own time zone.

7 Mind the clock change

When daylight saving time starts or ends, your time offset changes. Ask Claude to use the correct offset for each date.

8 Keep a plan file

Save a simple list of what is scheduled and when. It stops repeats and tells you when your content will run out.

9 Set reminders

Ask Claude to remind you a few days before the queue runs dry, so you build the next batch in time.

Time (your zone)	Post type
8:00 AM	Image
10:30 AM	Reel
1:00 PM	Image
4:30 PM	Reel
7:00 PM	Image

This is an example rhythm, not a rule. Check your own Page insights and move the times to when your audience is active.

> KEEP ACCOUNTS SEPARATE
>
> If you run more than one brand, keep each Page and each schedule separate. Never let a batch for one Page post to another.

PROMPT

Using Blotato, list my connected accounts. Then, once I approve the review page, upload every file, check each public address, and schedule the posts for my Facebook Page: three images a day at 8:00 AM, 1:00 PM and 7:00 PM, and two reels a day at 10:30 AM and 4:30 PM. Use the correct time offset for each date and save a plan file.

PART 7

Grow the Page with a weekly rhythm

Consistency, small tests and one sitting a week.

When	What happens	Who
Once a week, one sitting	Ask Claude to run the Eden research and build next week's batch: quotes, captions, the photo for each post, and reels with music. Review it, approve it, and it is scheduled in Blotato.	Claude does the work. You approve.
Weekly, optional	Open your insights. Note the best posts and the weakest, and tell Claude what to make more of.	You
When you can	Reply to comments on your posts. Thank people and ask a follow-up question.	You
Monthly	Check follower count, reach and monetization eligibility.	You

ONE SITTING A WEEK

Setting up takes a bit of time once. After that it is easy and simple, and in my experience about 90% automated. The heavy work is done by Claude: the research, the photo picks, the images and the reels with music. Your part is one weekly sitting to look it over and approve it. Blotato then posts it on schedule while you are away. Replying to comments and checking insights are extra steps that help your Page grow.

What to look at in your insights

- Shares and saves: the strongest signal that a post connects.
- Reach: how many people saw it, not only followers.
- Watch time on reels: how long people stay.
- Which themes win: make more of those, fewer of the rest.

Simple growth habits

- Post at the same times every day so people expect you.
- End captions with a question people can answer in one word.
- Make short reels, and put the key line on screen in the first second.
- Test one change at a time: a font, a background style, a caption type.
- Invite people who react to a post to follow the Page, using the invite option Facebook gives you.

PART 8

Get monetized and earn off Facebook too

Qualify for Facebook's programs, and build income Facebook cannot switch off.

Facebook's programs

Facebook's offers change often. As of this guide, reports describe these main routes. Always confirm in your own dashboard, because only Facebook can tell you what you qualify for.

Route	What it is	Where to check
Content monetization	Earnings tied to views and engagement on videos, reels and other formats. Often invitation-based, with follower and watch-time thresholds.	Meta Business Suite, Monetization
Stars	Viewers send small tips during eligible videos.	Monetization, eligibility
Fan subscriptions	Followers pay monthly for perks you offer.	Monetization, eligibility
Creator programs	Occasional programs that help newer creators start. Eligibility changes.	Facebook creator updates

Steps to qualify

1. Meet the basics
   You are an adult, in an eligible country, and your Page follows Facebook's monetization and content policies.

2. Build real watch time
   Post reels and videos consistently. Eligibility often depends on views and minutes watched over a recent period.

3. Open the monetization page
   In Meta Business Suite, find Monetization, then check your Page's eligibility. It lists what is missing.
4. Fix flagged items
   Remove anything the dashboard flags. Then keep posting.
5. Complete payout details
   When invited or approved, add your payout and tax details, so earnings can be paid out.
6. Review monthly
   Check which content earns and which is not eligible, and adjust.

> WHAT CAN BLOCK YOU
>
> Reposting other people's videos, watermarks from other apps, music you do not have the rights to, clickbait titles, engagement bait, bought followers and repeated policy strikes. Original content with permitted music is the safest path.

Income Facebook cannot take away

1. Start a simple website
   One page is enough: your best quotes, your free guide, and a signup box. Put the link in your Page button and bio.
2. Offer a free gift
   A short free guide in exchange for an email address. It grows a list you own.
3. Recommend tools you really use
   Share affiliate links honestly and say that they are affiliate links. In this guide, Blotato and Eden are two such tools.
4. Sell a small digital product
   A guide, a wallpaper pack or a printable. Part 9 shows how.

5

Add merch later

Use free print-on-demand services, so you carry no stock and pay nothing upfront.

BE HONEST ABOUT AFFILIATE LINKS

Say clearly that you may earn a commission. In many places, such as the US and Canada, you are required to. Never claim results you cannot prove.

PART 9

Create and sell your own guide

Turn what you know into a product people can buy, with Claude doing the heavy lifting.

1. Pick one clear problem
   A guide that solves one specific problem sells better than a broad one. Example: How to set up a Facebook Page and schedule a month of posts.
2. Write the promise
   One sentence: who it is for and what they will be able to do after reading.
3. Outline it with Claude
   Ask for a step-by-step outline with a goal for each part and one action at the end.
4. Write it in your voice
   Give Claude examples of your writing. Ask it to match the tone, then edit anything that does not sound like you.
5. Add proof from your own work
   Screenshots, your real process, your real mistakes. Do not add income numbers you cannot back up.
6. Design it in your brand kit
   Same colors, fonts and logo as your Page, so the guide feels like part of your brand.
7. Export as a PDF
   A PDF opens on every device and is what most stores expect.
8. Choose where to sell
   Start with a free store plan. Payhip has a free plan. Add a free sample chapter to your website to build trust.

9 Set a fair price

Start modest, ask early buyers for feedback and improve the guide. You can raise the price later.

10 Tell people on Facebook

Post the guide a few times a week among your normal posts. Show one useful tip from it each time.

11 Give a free version first

A short free guide builds your email list. Offer the full guide to that list.

PROMPT

I want to write a guide called [title] for [who]. Promise: [one sentence]. Write a detailed outline with 8 to 10 parts. For each part give: the goal, 6 to 9 numbered steps, one example, one prompt the reader can copy, and a short checklist. Plain language. No income promises.

BEFORE YOU SELL

Add a short disclaimer that results vary, an affiliate disclosure, and a refund policy. Do not use anyone else's text, images or logos.

OPTIONAL

No product yet? Start with the Product Library

Ready-made books you can put your own name on.

Writing a book takes time, and designing it takes skills you may not have. If you want a product to sell before you have made your own, the Product Library gives you finished books to brand as yours. You pick the books, add your name, brand and color, and download them as polished PDFs. This is optional. You can also write your own guide with Claude, as shown above.

How it works

1. Pick your books
   Browse the library of done-for-you guides, playbooks, planners and content packs, and take the ones that fit your audience.
2. Add your brand
   Type your name and brand, pick your color and add your logo. You can also add your photo, your story and your links, and every book ends with a bonus page all about you.
3. Download and sell
   You get each book as a ready-to-sell PDF, a finished sales page, and a ready-to-paste shop listing for places such as Payhip, Etsy and Gumroad.

What is inside

- 72 books: topics include starting over after 50, Facebook, YouTube, Instagram and Threads, selling basics, email marketing, mindset and planning, content packs and printable planners. New books are added over time.
- Your name on the cover: each book carries your name and brand, not anyone else's.

- Customize every page: click any sentence to rewrite it, swap pictures, and add or remove pages before you download.
- A sales page for each book: finished, in your colors, with your photo and story on it.
- Shop listings written for you: title and description, even Etsy tags, ready to copy and paste.

How it gives you a product with your name on it

When you brand a book, it becomes your product. Per the Library's license, you can sell each branded book on your own website, shop or community and keep 100% of every sale. You can also add books to your paid programs, bundles and memberships.

> GOOD TO KNOW
>
> The license has simple rules. Books are for selling, or as an occasional bonus with a paid offer, never permanent freebies. To protect the value for everyone, single books sell for $7 or more and full sets for $47 or more. The Library does not promise you will make money. Read the license on the Library page before you start.

See the Product Library
library.joseebedard.com

PART 10

Your 30-day launch plan

Follow it in order. Tick each line as you go.

Days	Do this
1 to 2	Write your three lines (feeling, audience, never-post list). Create your brand kit.
3	Create the Page. Add profile picture, cover, bio. Turn on two-factor protection.
4	Create your Eden board. Ask Claude to run your first research session.
5 to 6	Ask Claude for your first batch of quotes, images and captions. Publish five starter posts.
7	Create your Blotato account. Connect the Page. Find your two IDs.
8 to 9	Review and approve your first week. Upload and schedule it.
10 to 14	Reply to comments daily. Make your first reels with permitted music. Schedule them.
15	Check your insights. Write down what worked.
16 to 20	Build week 3 and 4 content. Start a one-page website and a free gift.
21 to 25	Outline and write your own guide with Claude.
26 to 28	Design the PDF. Open a free store. Upload it.
29	Announce it on the Page. Add the link to your button and bio.
30	Check monetization eligibility. Plan month two.

IF YOU ONLY DO ONE THING

Post every day for 30 days with a clear promise and your own words. Everything else in this guide makes that easier.

EXTRAS

Prompt library

Copy, paste, replace the brackets.

NEW BATCH

Make my next Facebook batch for [Page name]. Use my brand kit and rules below. Write [21] original quotes with captions, build [21] images at 1080x1350 and [10] reels at 1080x1920 with permitted music, and put everything on one review page. Do not schedule until I say go.

CAPTION REWRITE

Rewrite these captions so each ends with a question a stranger can answer in one word. Keep my hashtag. No emoji.

FIX A WEAK POST

Here are my three weakest posts and three best posts from this week. Tell me what the best have in common and give me ten new ideas in that direction.

FREE GIFT

Write a 5-page free guide called [title] for my Page's audience. Short steps, one action each. End with an invitation to my full guide.

DISCLOSURE

Write a short, friendly affiliate disclosure and a results disclaimer for my guide, suitable for Canada and the US.

QUEUE CHECK

Look at my Blotato schedule. Tell me the last scheduled date for images and reels, and remind me three days before the queue ends.

Weekly checklist

- Claude has run the Eden research and saved it
- Next week's batch written and reviewed

- Files uploaded and scheduled in Blotato
- Comments answered
- Insights checked and notes written
- Plan file updated

EXTRAS

Tools and links

The tools behind this process.

Tool	Use it for	Link
Blotato	Connect your Page, upload files and schedule posts. Connects to Claude.	Get Blotato
Eden	Research creators and posts, rank by outlier score, save to boards.	Get Eden
Claude	Write, design and build your batches, and your guide.	claude.ai
BrandBuilder	Optional: answer 9 questions to get your brand story, colors, fonts, logo, one-page website and 30 days of posts.	brandbuilder.joseebedard.com
Product Library	Optional: ready-made books you can brand with your own name and sell.	library.joseebedard.com
Pexels	Free calm background photos (check each license).	pexels.com
Pixabay	Free music for reels (read each track's license).	pixabay.com
Google Fonts	Free fonts for your brand kit.	fonts.google.com
Payhip	Free plan to sell your digital guide.	payhip.com

Glossary

- Reel: a short vertical video that Facebook shows to people who do not follow you yet.
- Outlier score: how far a post beat that creator's normal results.
- Affiliate link: a link that tracks a sign-up to you, so you can earn a commission.
- Lead magnet: a free gift in exchange for an email address.
- Batch: a set of posts made together, usually for one to two weeks.

The Real Life Quotes is a Facebook Page. This guide is for education. It is not financial, legal or tax advice. Facebook, Meta, Blotato, Eden, Claude, Pexels, Pixabay and Payhip are trademarks of their owners and are not affiliated with this guide, except through the affiliate links disclosed above.

YOUR NEXT STEP

What to do now

Start small, start today, and keep it simple.

1. Create or pick your Page
   Choose one feeling, one audience and one name, as in Part 1 and Part 2.
2. Make your brand kit
   Fill in the table in Part 3, or let BrandBuilder guide you through it.
3. Set up your three tools
   Eden for research, Claude for your batches, Blotato for scheduling.
4. Post for 30 days
   Follow the plan in Part 10 and review your insights each week.
5. Add a product when you are ready
   Write your own guide with Claude, or brand a ready-made book from the Product Library.

If you want a head start

BrandBuilder is optional. You answer 9 simple questions and it builds your brand story, colors and fonts, logo, one-page website and 30 days of posts.

See BrandBuilder
brandbuilder.joseebedard.com

The Product Library is optional too. It gives you ready-made books you can put your own name on and sell.

See the Product Library
library.joseebedard.com

Now post your first quote.

One calm, original line, shared today, is where every Page begins.

The Real Life Quotes